YUM! BRANDS REORGANIZES U.S. BUSINESS TO POWER FUTURE SALES AND PROFIT GROWTH

Company Realigns Resources and Leverages Scale Across U.S. Portfolio of Brands:

Brolick Appointed President of U.S. Brand Building

Hearl Appointed YUM Brands Chief Operating and Development Officer

Creed Appointed President of Taco Bell Corp.

Bergren Appointed President of Pizza Hut Inc.

LOUISVILLE, KY (NOVEMBER 16, 2006) Yum! Brands, Inc. (NYSE:YUM) today announced a reorganization to its business in the U.S. to better leverage its scale and strengthen brand building, operations and development across its entire domestic portfolio of brands. The reorganization places the Company's top resources against aggressively driving consistent and U.S. same store sales and profit growth, while creating synergies for its operations and development teams. It does not affect the organizational structure of its high growth China and International businesses.

The reorganization to the Company's U.S. business is effective December 1, 2006, and includes: Emil Brolick, 59, appointed President of U.S. Brand Building, a newly created role; and Peter Hearl, 55, appointed Yum! Brands Chief Operating and Development Officer, a newly combined role. Both officers report directly to David C. Novak, Yum! Brands Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. Additionally, the Company appointed Greg Creed, 49, President of Taco Bell Corp., replacing Brolick; and Scott Bergren, 60, President of Pizza Hut Inc., replacing Hearl. Gregg Dedrick, 48, President of KFC Corp., continues in his current role. All three domestic brand Presidents will now report to Brolick. Sam Su, President of Yum! China Division, and Graham Allan, President of Yum! Restaurants International, continue to report directly to Novak, as do the executive officers of the Company.

Brolick has served as President of Taco Bell for six years, joining the Company from Wendy's in 2000, where he served as SVP, New Product Marketing, Research and Strategic Planning. He is a 30-year seasoned veteran of the quick service restaurant industry, product development, marketing and business planning. Emil Brolick has led Taco Bell to five consecutive years of sales, transaction and profit growth, and has demonstrated he is one of the most talented brand builders in the entire restaurant industry, said David C. Novak. Under his leadership, Taco Bell has strengthened its differentiation and value leadership, and has become the second most profitable restaurant concept in the U.S. I'm excited he will leverage his tremendous experience across all our U.S. brands to build powerful and sustainable growth. In this new role, Brolick will be responsible for working with the U.S. brand presidents to build even stronger brands, including institutionalizing the company's Yum! Insight Marketing Model, ensuring a fully stocked pipeline of new products, driving branded service and training, and seeking major productivity gains. He also will take accountability for engraining category and consumer knowledge across the Company and identifying possible synergies that will leverage scale and maximize efficiencies.

Hearl joined the Company in 1991, and most recently served as President of Pizza Hut in the U.S. He has a strong business and operations track record, having served as Chief People Officer for Yum! Brands, Inc. and as Chief Operating Officer for Yum! Restaurants International. Prior to that, Hearl led the Company's KFC and Pizza Hut businesses in Europe, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and the Asia Pacific region, while establishing the Company's groundwork for success in India. Peter Hearl is the very best operator we have in our system and he is ideally suited for this important job. He has a demonstrated track record building great businesses around the world, and has helped institutionalize our global operating platform and people-focused culture to dramatically improve customer satisfaction, Novak said. As President of Pizza Hut, Hearl introduced a number of highly successful new products and has recently led a major repositioning of the brand to be launched in 2007. He also is credited with building the Pizza Hut/WingStreet multibrand concept into the single largest wings brand, worldwide. In his new role, Hearl will have responsibility for significantly improving system operations and opening new restaurants by working with company leaders and franchisees. The divisional Chief Operating Officers will dually report to Hearl and their respective brand presidents. Chuck Rawley, Chief Development Officer in the U.S., and the leadership teams at Long John Silver's and A&W All American Food, also will report directly to him.

As Chief Marketing Officer at Taco Bell, Creed spearheaded the Think Outside the Bun marketing efforts and new product introductions that generated consistent same store sales and profit growth during the last five years. He also served as Chief Marketing Officer and Interim General Manager of the KFC and Pizza Hut businesses in Australia, and at various business-building roles at Unilever. He most recently served as Chief Operating Officer at Yum! Brands, focused on upgrading restaurant service across the system. Greg has tremendous creativity and energy, strong leadership skills and all the commercial savvy required to run and grow Taco Bell, our highest profit business in the U.S., Novak said.

Bergren brings strong leadership and pizza category credentials to the Pizza Hut team. During his career, he successfully ran the Pizza Hut businesses in Mexico and Central America, and previously headed Round Table Pizza and Chevy's Mexican Restaurants. Most recently, Bergren was the Executive Vice President, Chief Marketing and Food Innovation Officer for Yum! Brands, including direct accountability for KFC, where he introduced the Chicken Capital USA advertising campaign and a number of successful new products, including the 99-cent Snacker, and KFC's Famous Bowls. Novak said Scott Bergren is a true brand builder and concept leader. His combination of consumer insights and business acumen will take our Pizza Hut turnaround strategy to the next level, building sustainable brand growth for the long-term.

We now have what I would call a dream team for sustainable sales and profit performance in our U.S. business. We've put the best aces in the best places. Emil Brolick is our top brand builder; Peter Hearl is the consummate operating leader; and we've placed the best possible concept leaders, Greg Creed, Scott Bergren and Gregg Dedrick, at each of our domestic brands. This is a winning combination and I am confident it will lead to stronger growth of our U.S. businesses, Novak added.
