Edgar Filing: TEXAS PACIFIC LAND TRUST - Form DFAN14A

Good morning, I'm Eric Oliver. I'm the nominee for trustee for Texas Pacific Land Trust. I'm on the white ballot. This morning, I'm in New York City. It's April 22nd and it's a beautiful blue-sky day. Cherry blossoms are out and I'm in the offices of our good friends, Horizon Kinetics. We're finishing up the final touches on our presentation that we'll deliver tomorrow to ISS, where we lay out our plan for modern corporate governance and why we think it's the best way forward to protect the assets of the Trust and to unlock value for decades to come. We'll be filing this of record; we encourage you to look it up. You're going to learn a lot about why we're doing what we're doing in this document, and hopefully you'll understand why we're so passionate in this election.

There are two things I'd like to say to you today. Number one is we're getting a lot of phone calls and emails from shareholders telling us that the trustees are calling them three, four times, offering to overnight ballots to expedite voting. And you're just wondering why we're not doing the same thing. Well, believe you me, we would love to do that. We would love to contact you and let you hear our message because we think it's compelling. Unfortunately, the Trust refuses to give us their NOBO list—the Non-Objecting Beneficial Ownership list, which has your contact information. They've had this for over a week. That's why they've been contacting you. We sent them a letter this morning again asking for it. They tell us the reason they don't want to give it to us is they want to protect your privacy. I wonder if they're trying to protect something else. What we would like to see is a fair election where both candidates are given the same opportunity to tell their stories. And then let you make an educated vote.

The second thing I'd like to say to you today is my youngest son, Ethan, was in town this weekend. Incidentally, Ethan owns more shares than the two co-general agents and David Barry combined. And he said, Dad, rather than people being worried about a storm on the horizon, he said, shareholders should be thankful for Horizon building a storm in this election. I said Ethan, that's really good, I'm going to use that and give you credit. So, I just did that. But what Horizon has done, by stepping into this election, is they forced the real issues involved in governing this Trust to be talked about. Do you think any of us would've gotten an investor presentation if we hadn't done this? Furthermore, in Horizon—in our—investigation, had we not done this, more than likely Preston Young would've been rubber-stamped as the next trustee. But in our due diligence, we uncovered that Preston Young and his company, Stream Realty, actually manage three of David Barry's office buildings in Texas: Sidra Riverway, Sidra Woodway and Sidra Austin. We felt like, that that was too much of a conflict of interest and that Preston couldn't have been an independent trustee representing all owners.

It's for that reason we stepped into this election and we said we need our voice to be heard. We need a representative on the board that represents owners. So, I'm asking you today, do you trust Horizon Kinetics who has over $1 billion invested in this entity or are you going to trust two trustees that have 1,300 units. I'm asking you today to please vote for me, Eric Oliver, on the white ballot. Thank you.

4 Executive Summary

Executive Summary 5 TPL was created as a business trust in 1888 as part of the reorganization following the bankruptcy of the Texas & Pacific Railway (“T&P Railway”). As a trust, trustees should be held to a very high standard both as a trustee and a fiduciary. The sole intended purpose of the formation of TPL as a trust was to provide an orderly liquidation of the land that secured defaulted bonds of the T&P Railway. At the time, as there was no oil and gas activity on the lands and the trustees simply oversaw the liquidation of trust assets and the distribution of proceeds, a trust was the optimal business structure. Since then, TPL deviated from this long held mandate with the creation of a water operating company, followed by complex land and royalty “trading” transactions. As such, the activities of TPL are clearly an operating business, which includes the reinvestment of nearly $100 million of shareholder capital annually. We believe there is no precedent whatsoever for a company engaged in these active business activities to be structured as a business trust, nor any logical justification, in our view, to forego disclosures, controls and governance of a modern operating corporation.

Executive Summary 6 Texas Pacific Land Trust (TPL) is a business trust created in 1888, and is currently one of the largest landowners in Texas. TPL's revenues derive primarily from royalties from oil and gas; revenues from easements, leases and land sales; and sales of water. TPL continues to be governed as a liquidating business trust from the late 19th century: No annual meeting of shareholders. Board is composed of only three trustees, who serve life appointments. Shareholders only get to vote on a trustee replacement when incumbent dies, resigns or is disqualified. Only four shareholder meetings in 30 years! We believe poor governance record and lack of accountability has resulted in: Lack of transparency to investors. Rampant conflicts of interest. Questionable business decisions. Total disregard for investors' view and rights, as evidenced by the conduct of incumbent trustees during this proxy campaign. The long-term holders of over 25% of the outstanding shares have nominated Eric Oliver, who has been a TPL investor since 2005, to fill a newly created vacancy. As one of three trustees, Eric is committed to encourage the Trust to convert to a Delaware corporation subject to modern governance standards, and will provide the industry knowledge and expertise that in our view the Board otherwise lacks.

24 Why Transformation is Needed NOW

Why Transformation Is Needed NOW 25 Trustees/General Agents Lack of Relevant Experience Trustees have spent their careers as attorneys and lack any relevant oil & gas experience. Trustees acknowledge that no current member of the Board of Trustees would meet the definition of an “audit committee financial expert”. General Agents (the CEO and CFO) have limited/no oil & gas experience beyond current roles. Trustees and General Agents Serve Lifetime Appointments Trustees are not accountable to shareholders: Trustees serve life terms until “death, resignation or disqualification”. Investors in a public company should simply not be forced to think of a trustee’s tenure in terms of his or her life expectancy. TPL has only held four shareholder meetings in thirty (30) years. No Modern Governance Principles Trustees have no accountability to a board of directors or shareholders. Trustees provide little or no information regarding capital allocation or compensation: Trustees recently increased their own pay 52x, while increasing management pay over 10x without shareholder approval or disclosure. Lacking Modern Corporate Governance Standards

Why Transformation Is Needed NOW 26 Management & Trustees Own Minimal StockTotal inside ownership in the stock is 1,600 Shares, including only 300 by the General Agents – less than 0.03% of outstanding Shares. This current inside ownership level is a dramatic decline and the lowest level over the past 30 years. At recent prices, total stock ownership by 2 Trustees and 2 General Agents combined is less than either of the bonuses paid to the 2 General Agents. The General Agents are incentivized to continue to earn their annual large cash salaries and bonuses (which are tied to short-term profits); unlike shareholders, they have little to gain by way of long-term stock price appreciation. Virtually No Alignment of Interest

Why Transformation Is Needed NOW 27 Conflicts of Interest are Ignored and Not Disclosed The previous General Agent (CEO) assigned large surface acreage rights to a private operator prior to leaving TPL to work for the very company involved in the transaction. TPL failed to disclose that its initial nominee to fill the vacant Trustee position, Preston Young, works for Stream Realty in Houston. Stream Realty manages 3 buildings in Houston that are owned by a current Trustee's firm. TPL subsequently replaced Preston Young as nominee with its current candidate. One of the current Trustees also serves as President of Tarka Resources, which merged with Manti to form Manti Tarka Permian, LP ("Manti Tarka"). Manti Tarka has drilled on TPL's NPRI in Pecos County. Additionally, TPL also owns surface acreage around the wells being drilled by Manti Tarka, so it is unclear if Manti Tarka have engaged in any transactions relating to surface use rights or easements and who, if anyone, has approved these transactions outside the conflicted Trustee. Lacking Transparency and Disclosures

Why Transformation Is Needed NOW 28 In Our View, Current Management Has Demonstrated Poor JudgmentIn 2011, without disclosure—TPL swapped 15,746 surface acres and 13,211 gross 1/16 non-participating royalty interest (NPRI) along the state line in Culberson County for Mineral Classified acreage in central Culberson (Chevron is developing the acquired property while no activity has taken place on the Mineral Classified property).In 2018, TPL sold 14,000 Surface Acres in Loving/Reeves County in an area that TPL’s most recent—and only—presentation describes as a “Core Surface Position” without rationale.In 2018-2019, TPL sold Midland Basin NPRI to Chevron, which had pristine title, and then purchased a broad swath of low NRI properties around the Midland Basin again with no disclosure or justification.In 2018, TPL purchased surface acreage in Hudspeth, Concho and Mitchell counties. There is little to no drilling activity in these counties and there has been no discussion by management as to why purchasing this land is more attractive than buying back units.(continued next page) Lacking Relevant Experience and Network

Why Transformation Is Needed NOW 29 In Our View, Current Management Has Demonstrated Poor Judgment (Cont'd) Management has spent over $62 million on an active water business that requires large capital expenditures and employee management without shareholder approval and limited disclosure. 2018 was the lowest percentage of revenue allocated to the retiring of shares in the history of TPL, despite the 50%+ drop in stock price during the 4th quarter and the significant cash position. TPL's recently filed—and only—presentation highlights 10 wells drilled on or around TPL's NPRI position in the Delaware Basin. 5 of the 10 wells highlighted by TPL are in the wrong location, some by more than 20 miles, with one well listed in the wrong county. Lacking Relevant Experience and Network (cont'd)

Why Transformation Is Needed NOW 30 Sample TPL Management Social Ads (filed by TPL with the SEC on 4/10/19:Facebook:“There’s a storm on the horizon. Texas Pacific Land Trust and its legacy of value creation are under threat by a dissident group putting its own interests before those of other shareholders. Retired 4-star General Donald Cook is the ONLY candidate who will advance TPL’s strategy for the benefit of ALL shareholders. Make your voice heard. Vote FOR General Cook on the BLUE card. Protect your Trust. Trust General Cook.”Twitter:“There’s a storm on the horizon. TPL is under threat by a dissident, self-serving group. General Don Cook is the ONLY candidate who will advance TPL’s strategy for ALL shareholders. Make your voice heard. Vote FOR Cook on the BLUE card. Protect your Trust.”Google:“Texas Pacific Land Trust. Proven strategy is now at risk. Vote for Gen Cook on BLUE Card. TPL outperformed the market with returns of 733% since 2014. More than Apple or Amazon! TPL is vital to Texas history <https://www.trusttpl.com/>” While we have kept this campaign honest and fair, management has chosen to use hyperbole to demonize large long-term shareholder Who is paying for an expensive website, designers, PR advisors and now a social media campaign?We believe buying back shares is a better investment than Google ads.

Why Transformation is Needed NOW The Trustees Should Embrace and Work Collaboratively With Eric Oliver
TPL's Management Already Seeks Out To Him For His Knowledge and Expertise 31 We firmly believe that, despite their recent rhetoric that includes unsubstantiated references to "serious concerns with the dissident nominee's judgment and intentions", TPL's trustees appreciate the expertise and depth of knowledge that Eric Oliver brings to the table. In fact, on April 14, 2019, Robert Packer, TPL's Chief Financial Officer, emailed Kline D. Oliver, Vice-President of SoftVest Advisors LLC, requesting an updated list of drilled, completed and permitted wells on TPL non-participating royalty interest property that Mr. Oliver maintains based on his dedicated ongoing research. Mr. Oliver has shared similar information in the past with TPL's management at their request and at no cost – despite TPL's offer to pay for such work. Mr. Oliver promptly provided the list to Mr. Packer, even after being the target of a distasteful attack letter issued by TPL that morning. Mr. Oliver is, among other things, a source of deep expertise and knowledge about TPL and the industry which in our view will immensely enrich the Board. We Call For Basic Fairness in Shareholder Communications

Why Transformation is Needed NOW 32 Changed their Nominee And Failed to Disclose Conflicts TPL switched their nominees between the filing of their preliminary proxy statement and their definitive proxy statement, only after Mr. Oliver's nomination was made public. TPL failed to disclose that its initial nominee to fill the vacant Trustee position, Preston Young, works for Stream Realty in Houston. Stream Realty manages 3 buildings in Houston that are owned by a current Trustee's firm. TPL subsequently replaced Preston Young as nominee with its current candidate.

Access to Shareholders Have refused to turn over their NOBO list, DTC List and omnibus proxies, all of which are in their possession. Sent over a scan of the registered holder list (not in electronic form, per industry standard) that our team had to then manually organize and build into a spreadsheet.

33 Eric Oliver's Actionable Plans

Mr. Oliver's Plan 34 Board will operate according to modern governance standards with requisite independent members and disclosures Include several oil and gas professionals, in addition to an expert for the Audit Committee Evaluate all significant capital allocation decisions Create a Board of Directors Implement annual elections for all directors Provide Shareholders with Basic Rights Include drilling, rig, well, capital expenditure and various additional data to better inform shareholders Hold annual investor meetings and provide quarterly earnings calls Increase Disclosure Evaluate the best practices for working with oil and gas companies and infrastructure companies Actively Engage with Partners in the Permian Basin Management has de-emphasized buybacks and dividends in order to pursue capital investments Board will define return on capital hurdles and set parameters for stock repurchases and dividends Recommit to Returning Capital to Shareholders Provide water team with seasoned board for expansion and development Assess various types of water ventures to limit risk and maximize long-term growth Work with oil and gas partners to ensure both source and produced water requirements are met for decades of production Develop Water Business to Maximize Shareholder Value If Elected, Mr. Oliver Intends to Encourage the Other Two Trustees to:
