Paragon Calls on Rubicon to Explain Appointment of Director with Questionable Record

ATLANTA, GA – Paragon Technologies, Inc., which has initiated a proxy contest at the annual meeting of Rubicon Technology, Inc. (NASDAQ: RBCN) scheduled to be held on June 24, 2016, called on Rubicon to explain the unilateral appointment by the incumbent Board of a new director with a questionable record in the midst of an election process, bypassing a vote of shareholders.

On May 31, long after mailing its proxy statement and annual meeting materials to shareholders, Rubicon abruptly announced the appointment of a new director to the Board, Timothy E. Brog. The incumbent Board appointed Brog “effective immediately” and as a Class II director immune from any vote of shareholders until “the 2018 annual meeting.”

Most alarming, the Rubicon Board appears to either have failed to vet Brog’s background or they are unconcerned about his questionable record, which includes:

Brog has a history regarding violations of the federal securities laws and the failure to disclose such violations to shareholders. In 2006, Brog was part of a slate of director candidates nominated by a group of activist shareholders led by Full Value Partners L.P. and thus a participant in a proxy contest waged against Gyrodyne Company of America, Inc. (“Gyrodyne”). In that contest, the SEC Staff issued a comment letter indicating that because the Full Value Partners group had not first filed a preliminary proxy statement in connection with a contested director election, the participants in the proxy solicitation had violated Rule 14a-6 of Regulation 14A. The SEC Staff directed the Full Value Partners group to revise its proxy materials to affirmatively indicate the participants have committed a federal securities law violation. Following receipt of this SEC comment letter, the Full Value Partners group did not make any additional proxy filings prior to the 2006 annual meeting and appears to have withdrawn its nominations.

The following year, the Full Value Partners group again attempted to nominate the same group of directors, including Brog. In response, Gyrodyne filed a federal lawsuit asserting that Full Value Partners was using false and misleading proxy materials to wage its proxy campaign. In its complaint, Gyrodyne alleged, among other things, that Full Value failed to disclose that its nominees, including Brog, violated federal securities laws in connection with its 2006 proxy solicitation. Brog’s nomination was subsequently withdrawn at the last minute, and the other two dissident candidates were not elected.

In another proxy contest waged in 2008, in response to a notice of intent to nominate directors at its upcoming annual meeting of shareholders, TravelCenters of America LLC filed a lawsuit against Brog and others alleging, among other things, that the nomination notice failed to comply with the requirements of the company’s Limited Liability Company Agreement because Brog’s history of a securities law violation was not disclosed. The Delaware Court of Chancery ruled in favor of TravelCenters and found Brog’s notice of intent to nominate directors deficient because Brog failed to disclose Brog’s earlier violation of federal securities laws. The Court went on to say that “... the SEC staff had, as a matter of fact, concluded that Mr. Brog had violated the federal securities laws in 2006 in connection with the Gyrodyne Company proxy solicitation” and that the materiality of such violation was clear.

In 2011, Brog was again part of the activist's slate, this time for election to the board of ModusLink Global Solutions, Inc.'s annual meeting of stockholders scheduled for January 20, 2012. Again, yet another company found that "Brog Has a Troubling Track Record of SEC Violations."

Brog was arrested on drug charges just three years ago.

Brog recently underwent a contentious divorce in which the court cited his "drug arrest" and "infidelity" as causes for the marital discord.

Paragon calls on the Rubicon Board to immediately explain this very concerning track record.

Brog's appointment is an appalling affront to shareholder rights and responsible corporate governance. The Rubicon Board decided to bypass the annual meeting and directly appoint their own hand-picked stand-in director. Brog appears to be a journeyman director regularly added as a stand-in for contested elections, including in multiple cases where his nomination was forced to be withdrawn or was declared deficient and invalid.

The Rubicon Board also saw fit to immediately reward Brog with generous compensation. Rubicon stated that Brog received an immediate "equity compensation grant...of 73,529 shares of restricted common stock...with an estimated value of $50,000" plus "a one-time cash payment of $50,000" plus he will receive "an annualized base fee of $70,000 for his service on the Board" plus if Brog "is appointed to any committees of the Board, he will receive additional committee service compensation." Although not disclosed in Rubicon's Form 8-K reporting Brog's appointment, Brog received yet another 31,023 share equity grant on the date of his appointment.

As Rubicon's significant losses continue to grow, not only does the Board continue to award themselves what we believe is lavish compensation, they now add one more name to the list of excessively paid directors.

Shareholders deserve better than what we believe is a continuing and flagrant pattern of self-serving behavior by the incumbent Board of Directors.

If you are concerned about the $150 million of losses at Rubicon during the past four years and what we believe is the poor track record of corporate governance and board performance at Rubicon, and would like to hear more about Paragon's plans for the company, we urge you to contact us.
