RYANAIR ANNOUNCES 15th EUROPEAN BASE AT CORK INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT
LOW FARE DOMESTIC FLIGHTS ARRIVE IN IRELAND

Ryanair, Europe's No. 1 low fares airline, today (Tuesday, 13th September 2005) announced Cork as its 15th European base. From 24th November 2005, Ryanair will base a brand new Boeing 737-800 aircraft worth $60M in Cork and add two new routes to Dublin and London Gatwick that will deliver more than 1 million passengers per annum on Ryanair's four routes to and from Cork.

Announcing Ryanair's 15th European base at Cork International Airport today, Ryanair's CEO, Michael O'Leary, said:

"We are delighted to announce Cork International Airport as our 15th European base. Ryanair's new Cork base will deliver 1 million passengers per annum, sustain 1,000 jobs in the region and allow the people of Cork and Munster to travel internationally and domestically for a fraction of existing prices.

"For the first time Irish passengers will be able to enjoy the benefits of Europe's lowest fares and most punctual airline on a domestic route. More than 1,000 low fare seats will be available daily between Cork and Dublin acting as a major stimulus to the tourism and business life of Cork.

"Seats on these new routes are available for immediate booking on www.ryanair.com from EUR0.99 and we urge all passengers to book straight away as demand for fares this low fares will be huge".

Speaking today, Joe Gantley, Chairman of Cork Airport Authority, said:

"The Board of CAA welcome Ryanair's commitment to establishing a base in Cork and look forward to the contribution this will make to the continued growth of Cork Airport".
