Investment Banking and Investment Management

Barclays Capital

was profitable
in the first quarter despite the difficult trading conditions.

There was good growth across the underlying businesses with very strong income growth in interest rate products, emerging markets and currency products.

There were net losses of £1.0bn relating to credit market turbulence, including £0.7bn gains on the fair valuation of notes issued by Barclays Capital. Exposures relating to US residential mortgage backed securities were actively managed and declined over the period.

Forward Looking Statements

This document contains certain forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 21E of the US Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and Section 27A of the US Securities Act of 1933, as amended, with respect to certain of the Group's plans and its current goals and expectations relating to its future financial condition and performance. These forward-looking statements can be identified by the fact that they do not relate only to historical or current facts. Forward-looking statements sometimes use words such as 'aim', 'anticipate', 'target', 'expect', 'estimate', 'intend', 'plan', 'goal', 'believe', or other words of similar meaning. Examples of forward-looking statements include, among others, statements regarding the Group's future financial position, income growth, impairment charges, business strategy, projected levels of growth in the banking and financial markets, projected costs, estimates of capital expenditures, and plans and objectives for future operations.

By their nature, forward-looking statements involve risk and uncertainty because they relate to future events and circumstances, including, but not limited to, UK domestic and global economic and business conditions, the effects of continued volatility in credit markets, market related risks such as changes in interest rates and exchange rates, the policies and actions of governmental and regulatory authorities, changes in legislation, the further development of standards and interpretations under International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) applicable to past, current and future periods, evolving practices with regard to the interpretation and application of standards under IFRS, progress in the integration of Absa into the Group's business and the achievement of synergy targets related to Absa, the outcome of pending and future litigation, the success of future acquisitions and other strategic transactions and the impact of competition - a number of which factors are beyond the Group's control. As a result, the Group's actual future results may differ materially from the plans, goals, and expectations set forth in the Group's forward-looking statements.

Any forward-looking statements made by or on behalf of Barclays speak only as of the date they are made. Barclays does not undertake to update forward-looking statements to reflect any changes in Barclays expectations with regard thereto or any changes in events, conditions or circumstances on which any such statement is based. The reader should, however, consult any additional disclosures that Barclays has made or may make in documents it has filed or may file with the SEC.

appendixcredit market exposures

Barclays Capital credit market exposures resulted in net losses of £1,006m in the first quarter of 2008, due to continuing dislocation in the credit markets. The net losses, which included £598m in impairment charges, comprised: £495m against ABS CDO Super Senior exposures; and £1,214m against other credit market exposures; partially offset by gains of £703m from the general widening of credit spreads on issued notes held at fair value.

1 ABS CDO Super Senior exposures

ABS CDO Super Senior net exposures were £3,984m (31st December 2007: £4,671m).

Exposures are stated net of writedowns and charges of £495m incurred in 2008 and hedges of £84m (31st December 2007: £1,347m).

The collateral for the outstanding ABS CDO Super Senior exposures primarily comprised Residential Mortgage Backed Securities (RMBS). The vintages of the RMBS collateral were as follows:

RMBS vintages	High Grade	Mezzanine	Total
2005 and earlier	62%	88%	70%
2006	37%	6%	27%
2007	1%	6%	3%

The combination of subordination, hedging and writedowns provided protection against loss levels to 72% of

US sub-prime collateral as at 31st December 2007. In the first quarter of 2008, we liquidated some ABS CDO

Super Senior exposures, particularly those where the levels of writedown and hedging were high. The underlying collateral and related hedges

are included in the other US sub-prime and Alt-A exposures set out below

. The combination of subordination, hedging and writedowns as at 31st March 2008 provided protection against loss levels to 52% of US sub-prime collateral in the remaining ABS CDOs as at 31st March 2008.

Included above are AAA securities of £617m (31st December: £823m) held by consolidated conduits on which a charge of £229m has been taken to reserves. This is expected to reverse over time.

he overall protection provided by subordination is 21%.

As at 31st March 2008, 95% of the Alt-A whole loan exposure was performing, and the average loan to value ratio at origination was 81%.

4 Monoline insurers

Barclays Capital held assets with insurance protection or other credit enhancement from monoline insurers. The value of exposure to monoline insurers under these contracts was £2,784m (31st December 2007: £1,335m) reflecting movements in the underlying asset valuations on existing contracts. As the value of the underlying assets fell, the market value of the contracts, and hence Barclays Capital exposure, rose during the first quarter. At 31st March 2008

67% of the underlying assets comprised collateralised loan obligations, 9% US RMBS and 24% other collateral, primarily US CMBS

There were no claims due under these contracts as none of the underlying assets were in default.

Barclays Capital's loans and advances also included retained positions of underwritten leveraged finance transactions of £1,807m at 31st March 2008 (31st December 2007: £1,659m). New leveraged finance commitments originated after 30th June 2007 comprised £1,364m (31st December 2007: £1,148m).

8 Own Credit

At 31st March 200

8

, Barclays Capital had issued notes held a t fair value of £55.8bn

(31st December 2007: £57.2bn

). The

widening of

Barclays

credit spreads

in the first quarter

affected the carrying value of these notes and as a result revaluation gains of £703m were recognised in trading income.

A narrowing of credit spreads since

31st March 200

8 resulted in a charge of £4
