Item 1.01. Entry Into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On September 29, 2004, Cell Therapeutics, Inc. (the Company) and Richard E. Leigh, Jr., the Company's Executive Vice President, General Counsel, entered into a severance benefits agreement. Pursuant to Mr. Leigh's severance benefits agreement, in the event that Mr. Leigh is discharged from employment by the Company without cause, he will be entitled to receive acceleration of all then existing unvested stock based compensation and severance pay based on Mr. Leigh's base salary in effect immediately prior to the severance date and certain other benefits for a severance period of twelve months. Under the terms of the severance benefits agreement, Mr. Leigh is not entitled to severance benefits if his employment is terminated for cause, as a result of his death or disability or due to his own resignation without good reason. Cause is defined in the severance benefits agreement as: (A) conviction for, or guilty plea to, a felony or a crime involving moral turpitude; (B) action or inaction, which in the reasonable judgment of a majority of the board of directors, constitutes willful dishonesty, larceny, fraud or gross negligence in the performance of duties to the Company, or willful misrepresentation to shareholders, directors or officers of the Company; (C) material failure to comply with the provisions of the employee's job responsibilities; (D) willful and repeated failure, after notice, to materially follow the written policies of the Company; (E) failure, after notice, to correct materially unsatisfactory or unacceptable work performance; or (F) failure, after notice, to materially meet such business objectives as shall be mutually agreed to by the parties; provided that in the event of the occurrence of a Change in Control, as defined in the severance benefits agreement, (E) and (F) above shall not constitute Cause as a basis for termination. Good reason is defined in the severance benefits agreement as: resignation after the following: (A) notice in writing of relocation, without consent, to a place of business outside the Greater Puget Sound area, or (B) a substantial diminution of responsibilities and compensation from those responsibilities in effect on the date of the severance benefits agreement. Mr. Leigh's severance benefits agreement is attached as Exhibit 10.1 to this Current Report on Form 8-K and the information set forth therein is incorporated by reference into this Current Report.
