We are registering the sale of a maximum of 72,605 shares of our common stock that may be sold by the selling shareholders listed in this prospectus upon their exercise of warrants to purchase our common stock. We assumed the warrants in connection with the merger of Renasant Bancshares, Inc. with and into a wholly-owned subsidiary of the company, effective as of July 1, 2004.

We expect that the selling shareholders will sell the shares, from time to time, on the Nasdaq Global Market, in privately negotiated transactions or by a combination of these methods. The selling shareholders will determine when they sell their shares, and sales will be made at the market price or at negotiated prices. We will pay all of the expenses of registration incurred in connection with this offering, but the selling shareholders will pay all of their selling commissions, brokerage fees or other expenses of sale. We will not receive any of the proceeds from the sale of our stock by the selling shareholders.

Unless we indicate otherwise, references to the company, Renasant, we, us, and our or similar terms are to Renasant Corporation. Reference to Renasant Bancshares are to Renasant Bancshares, Inc., which we acquired by merger effective July 1, 2004.

1. Risk Factors

An investment in the company's common stock may involve risk. Our common stock is an equity security, not an insured deposit. Before investing, you should consider all of the risks commonly associated with an investment in equity securities, the particular risks of an investment in our common stock that are summarized below, and those risks incorporated into this prospectus by reference to our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005.

Although our common stock is listed for trading on the Nasdaq Global Market, the average daily trading volume in our common stock is low, generally less than that of many of our competitors and other larger bank holding companies. For the three months ending June 8, 2006, the average daily trading volume was 25,711 shares per day. Given this trading volume, significant sales of our common stock, or even the expectation of these sales, could cause volatility.

In addition, our Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws and federal banking laws, including regulatory approval requirements, could make it more difficult for a third party to acquire the company, even if doing so would be beneficial to our shareholders. The combination of these provisions impedes a non-negotiated merger or other business combination, which could adversely affect the market price of our common stock.

In connection with the merger, we assumed outstanding warrants to purchase common stock, which were first issued on May 3, 1999, by the predecessor to Renasant Bancshares, Inc., Community Commercial Bancshares, Inc. Effective as of March 31, 2005, Peoples Merger Corporation was merged with and into the company.

As a result of the merger in 2004, the warrants were converted to rights to acquire an aggregate of 72,605 shares of our common stock.
