Subject: Company-Wide Trading Blackout

To All Employees:

As you know, on November 5, 2013, we announced that Mindspeed had entered into a definitive agreement to be acquired by M/A-COM Technology (MACOM) in an all-cash tender offer. In connection with the tender offer, both MACOM and Mindspeed will need to file detailed and important disclosures with the SEC to provide additional background about the negotiations between the companies and the specific terms and conditions of the definitive agreement. Because this information about the potential transaction has not yet been made publicly available, Mindspeed is imposing a company-wide trading blackout under its insider trading policy.

As a result, until further notice from the Legal Department, you are not permitted to effect any trades in Mindspeed common stock (regardless of whether the transaction involves a purchase or sale) or in options or other derivative securities relating to Mindspeed common stock. Please note that we have informed Fidelity of the blackout, and the Fidelity site will not permit you to trade any Mindspeed shares you hold. We will inform you as soon as the blackout has been lifted, which we expect to occur as soon as Mindspeed files its Schedule 14d-9 with the SEC. We currently expect to file the 14d-9 no later than November 20, 2013.

Please contact the Legal Department with any questions.

This communication contains forward-looking statements based on Mindspeed's beliefs and assumptions and on information currently available to our management. Forward-looking statements include, in addition to statements relating to Mindspeed's business, financial results and prospects, statements concerning the MACOM transaction, including those regarding the potential date of closing of the acquisition; the potential for the divestiture of Mindspeed's wireless business; potential benefits and synergies; and other financial and business expectations. Forward-looking statements include all statements that are not historical facts and generally may be identified by terms such as anticipates, believes, could, estimates, expects, intends, may, plans, potential, predict, should, will, would or similar expressions and the negatives of those terms.

For example, there can be no assurances with respect to either the closing of the MACOM transaction or a divestiture of Mindspeed's wireless business. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements. A number of important factors could cause actual results to differ materially from those indicated by the forward-looking statements, including, among others, the potential that the tender offer will not be successfully completed; the lack of a binding agreement with respect to the divestiture of Mindspeed's wireless business to a proposed third party and the risk that the divestiture may not be completed; matters arising in connection with the parties' efforts to comply with and satisfy applicable regulatory approvals and closing conditions relating to the transaction; failure to achieve expected synergies and other anticipated benefits of the transaction; and other risks and uncertainties generally affecting Mindspeed's business, including fluctuations in our operating results and the potential for future operating losses; loss of or diminished demand from one or more key distributors; our ability to develop and introduce new products successfully; pricing pressures; whether we continue to sustain losses and consume cash in our operations; customer and employee uncertainty arising from the announcement of the transaction with MACOM and the potential divestiture of our wireless business; and the potential for intellectual property or other litigation. Additional risks and uncertainties that could cause our actual results to differ from those set forth in any forward-looking statements are discussed in more detail under the caption "Risk Factors" in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended September 28, 2012, our most recent Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, and our future filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
