DIRECTORATE CHANGE

CHANGES IN NOVO NORDISK'S EXECUTIVE MANAGEMENT

Following a change in the distribution of responsibilities among the members of its Executive Management, Novo Nordisk has reduced the number of executives from six to five. In this connection Executive Vice President Lars Almbloom Jørgensen leaves Novo Nordisk by mutual agreement. His areas of responsibility, Quality, Regulatory Affairs and Business Development, will be taken over by Lise Kingo, Mads Krogsgaard Thomsen and Jesper Brandgaard, respectively. The changes take effect from today.

Commenting on the changes, Lars Rebien S0rensen, president and CEO, says: "I would like to express my sincere gratitude to Lars Almbloom J0rgensen for his significant contribution to the company during his more than 25 years with Novo Nordisk. He has played a major role in the company's successful development over the years and is highly respected throughout the organisation for his professionalism and integrity. I wish him the best of luck in the future."

Accordingly, Novo Nordisk's Executive Management is now composed as follows:

- o LARS REBIEN S0RENSEN, president and CEO (chief executive officer).
- o JESPER BRANDGAARD, executive vice president and CFO (chief financial officer), responsible for finance, legal, IT and corporate and business development.
- o LISE KINGO, executive vice president and chief of staffs, responsible for corporate staffs, including people, communication and quality.
- o KARE SCHULTZ, executive vice president and COO (chief operating officer), responsible for sales, marketing and production.
- o MADS KROGSGAARD THOMSEN, executive vice president and chief science officer, responsible for research, development and regulatory affairs.
