América Móvil Consolidated Results

With the U.S. economy seemingly on better footing, economic activity in Latin America appeared to pick up in the second quarter, underpinning stronger top line growth throughout the region in spite of the financial volatility that resulted from the Fed's statement in May that it would likely start cutting back on its bond purchases before the end of the year given the resilience of the U.S. economy. This volatility led to major swings in exchange rates that for the most part resulted in a significant strengthening of the U.S. dollar vis-à-vis other currencies with the Mexican peso depreciating 6.7%, the Brazilian real 10.0%, the Colombian peso 4.9%, the Peruvian sol 7.5% and the Chilean peso 6.6% vs. the U.S. dollar.

Consolidated revenues were up 1.6% from the year-earlier quarter to 194.8 billion pesos, bringing to 387.8 billion pesos the total for the year. However, the increase in peso terms underestimates the real revenue growth given the noise generated by the currency movements. In constant peso terms, service revenue growth shot up to 7.8% year-on-year from 4.6% the prior quarter, and total revenues were up 10.0% compared to 6.1% the prior quarter.

The acceleration of service revenue growth was particularly strong in Mexico and in the South American block, rising from -1.6% to 1.0% in Mexico and from 5.0% to 8.5% in South America. In the latter block, the pace of growth picked up very notably in Brazil, Chile and Ecuador, gaining nearly 5 points in Brazil and almost 4 points in Ecuador relative to the first quarter.

The improvements above were mostly driven by the voice segment, with mobile voice recovering sharply from the downturn it observed the prior two quarters with Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Ecuador and Colombia posting significantly better growth figures than they had the prior quarter. Fixed-line voice revenues continued their steady recovery in Brazil.

Second quarter EBITDA, 65.0 billion pesos, was slightly lower than that of the year-earlier quarter in peso terms, -2.1%. At constant exchange rates, however, consolidated EBITDA swung from -2.4% in the first quarter to 5.0% in the second one, supported by the strong top line performance. The EBITDA margin stood at 33.4%, compared to 34.6% a year before.

We obtained an operating profit of 40.6 billion pesos in the quarter bringing the total to 79.2 billion for the first six months. At constant exchange rates it was up 7.3%.

Our comprehensive financing cost totaled 20.8 billion pesos and was 13% higher than that of the year-earlier quarter. As they had the prior year, foreign exchange losses made up most of the cost, reflecting the depreciation of the peso vs. the U.S. dollar and the euro. The depreciation of the various currencies vs. the dollar took place at a time when approximately 30% of the company's net debt was exposed to hard currencies, the rest ultimately denominated in local currencies, mostly Mexican pesos.

We ended June with 66.5 million wireless subscribers, 5.6% more than a year before. Our postpaid subscriber base rose 8.3% over the prior year to 13.7 million, having added 291 thousand new clients in the quarter. Fixed-RGUs went up 17.0% to 30.8 million at the end of June led by PayTV and broadband services, which increased by more than 20% year-on-year. Over half of our RGU net additions, 55%, came in the form of triple-play packages.

Second quarter revenues increased 8.0% year-on-year to 8.1 billion reais, with fixed-line revenues representing 64.1% of the total. Service revenue growth accelerated sharply from 2.8% in the first quarter to 7.6% in the second one. This improvement was broad based and touched every single business line, but for the most part reflected marked improvements in voice revenues on both platforms. Pay-TV revenues led the way rising 22.0% year-on-year, followed by mobile data revenues that increased 17.8%.

Our second quarter EBITDA of 1.9 billion reais was 2.7% higher than that of the prior year, which represents a five point swing from the previous quarter when it had declined 3.2% year-on-year. The margin for the period stood at 23.3% of revenues, 1.2 percentage points lower than a year before.

We have gained more than 140 thousand clients year-to-date from Mobile Number Portability and have continued to deploy 4G-LTE infrastructure in Brazil to strengthen further our mobile broadband capabilities.

Our wireless subscriber base ended June with 27.8 million after adding 144 thousand new clients in the second quarter. The postpaid segment rose 9.5% year-on-year to 5.5 million clients. Our fixed RGUs totaled 4.5 million at the end of the quarter, 15.6% more than a year before. Our broadband service keeps on expanding rapidly: we connected 71 thousand high-speed accesses in the quarter and recorded a 27.1% annual increase in our base.

We obtained revenues of 2.7 trillion Colombian pesos in the period, which is 9.4% more than in the year-earlier quarter. Wireless service revenues rose 5.4% year on year—up from 3.9% the prior quarter—driven by wireless data revenues that expanded 25.0%. Wireless voice revenues for the period remained flat in spite of the implementation of asymmetric termination rates in February 2013. Fixed line revenues were 15.7% above last year's. The latter accounted for just under 20% of our total revenues.

EBITDA for the quarter was 1.3 trillion Colombian pesos representing an annual increase of 11.3%. The margin, 49.0%, is 80 basis points higher than in the second quarter of 2012

In June, we were awarded in an auction the right to use 30 MHz of spectrum in the 2.5MHz band. This spectrum will be utilized for 4G-LTE services throughout the country.

Chile

We had 6.3 million wireless subscribers at the end of June—9.4% more than a year before—after allowing for the disconnection in the second quarter of 100 thousand users. Postpaid net additions were more than twice as many as those of the second quarter of 2012 and the subscriber base of that segment was up 10.6% year-on-year. Fixed RGUs totaled 1.2 million at the end of the quarter, having risen 10.8% over the year.

Our revenues amounted to 194.4 billion Chilean pesos, 10.2% more than in the year-earlier quarter. Wireless service revenues increased 8.7% on the back of data revenues that shot-up 40.6% and that now represent a fourth of our service revenues. Wireless voice revenues were up 1.2% in spite of the reduction in the average price per minute that resulted from new regulatory measures implemented at the end of March. Fixed-line revenues, which account for 28.8% of the total, were up 7.4% year-on-year as triple play packages proved to be popular.

EBITDA for the quarter was down to 8.7 billion Chilean pesos or 4.5% of revenues. The decline in EBITDA is linked on the one side to the growth of postpaid—around 90% of our additions are getting smartphones with data plans—and, to a lesser extent, to the changes in traffic brought about by the new pricing rules in Chile.

We were the first carrier to launch 4G-LTE services in the country. At the end of 2013, we will have coverage in the 5 largest cities where more than 70% of the population is concentrated. We continue to gain clients from Mobile Number Portability.

We finished June with 11.7 million wireless subscribers after one-time disconnections of 307 thousand that resulted from adjustments in our churn policy. The postpaid segment added 76 thousand new clients bringing the base to 2.2 million, an increase of 20.3% from the prior year. RGUs shot up 35.4% year-on-year to 277 thousand accesses.

Our second quarter revenues rose 12.9% to 432 million dollars. Wireless service revenues expanded 10.4% on account of a 40.7% jump in data revenues. Data revenues—which already represent 36.4% of service revenues—have been accelerating every one of the last four quarters. Revenues on the fixed-line front increased 28.0% over the year.

The quarter's EBITDA was up 8.0% to 194 million dollars. The margin, 44.9%, was down two percentage points relative to that of 2012 due to subscriber acquisition costs associated with our efforts to grow the postpaid segment more rapidly.

Peru

Our wireless subscriber base went down to 11.2 million at the end of June after one-time disconnections of 1.9 million wireless clients in the quarter as a result of changes in our churn policy. The postpaid subscriber base soared 38.7% year-on-year. On the fixed-line platform we had a total of 931 thousand RGUs, 18.6% more than the prior year.

Revenues of 1.2 billion soles were 12.8% higher than those of the second quarter of 2012. Wireless service revenue growth was buoyed by a 29.9% increase in wireless data—which now represents 28.1% of service revenues—and from voice revenues that rose 7.1% in spite of a 10% decline in the average price per minute. Fixed line revenues were up 18.8% over the year. They now account for 12% of total revenues in Peru.

The quarter's EBITDA of 446 million soles was 1.7% above last year's. The EBITDA margin stood at 37.9% of revenues. The four-point decline in the margin is a consequence of the costs building up our postpaid subscriber base, which has entailed providing subsidies on smartphones.

Claro continues to benefit from Mobile Number Portability.

Our combined wireless subscriber base topped 22 million at the end of June, after adding 466 thousand new clients in the second quarter. It was up 12.3% compared with the same period of 2012, but the postpaid segment grew at a faster pace: 16.4%. We also had 6.3 million RGUs, 6.7% more than a year before.

Our revenues reached 968 million dollars in the second quarter and were 1.5% higher than in the prior year. Wireless service revenues increased 5.3% on an annual basis driven by the 22.8% hike in data revenues. Fixed-line revenues declined 1.7% as a result of the deterioration of voice services and the continued fixed-to-mobile substitution. Fixed-data revenue growth has improved each one of the last four quarters and now totals 6.2%, while Pay TV revenue growth hit a new peak at 18.4%.

EBITDA of 312 million dollars exceeded by 17.2% that of the second quarter of 2012. The margin for the period climbed nearly five percentage points to 32.3%.
