Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

At the Citigroup Global Technology Conference on Thursday, September 8, 2005 and in meetings with investors on Thursday, September 8, 2005, and Friday, September 9, 2005, WD executives will provide investors with updates regarding current conditions in the hard drive industry. Specifically, WD expects to communicate the following:

- Quarterly demand thus far has reflected typical seasonal trends: relatively soft July and August as planned, with stronger recent distribution sell-through and OEM demand.
- Pricing has been within WD's expectations and benign by historic standards.
- Weeks of inventory in the channel for the industry and WD have tracked within the manageable 4 to 6 week range throughout the quarter. Total WD inventory is currently flat from the end of June going into September, typically a very strong month.
- As anticipated, demand and pricing for the remainder of September will determine the quarter's outcome.

This Form 8-K contains forward-looking statements, including statements concerning WD's expectations regarding typical demand conditions in the month of September and its belief that demand and pricing for the remainder of September will determine the quarter's outcome. These forward-looking statements are based on management's expectations and are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed in the forward-looking statements, including: pricing trends and fluctuations in average selling prices (ASPs); actions by competitors; supply and demand conditions in the hard drive industry; changes in product and customer mix; uncertainties related to the development and introduction of products based on new technologies and successful expansion into new hard disk drive markets, including the market for 1-inch hard drives; difficulties in reducing yield losses from complex manufacturing processes; business conditions and growth in the desktop, notebook, consumer electronics, handheld applications, SATA and enterprise markets; changes in availability and cost of specialized product components; and other risks and uncertainties listed in WD's recent Form 10-Q filed with the SEC. WD undertakes no obligation to update these forward-looking statements to reflect subsequent events or circumstances, and readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date hereof.
