Re: Demand that the Board of Directors Investigate the Recent Actions of President & CEO Merrill Sherman, Chief Financial Officer & Treasurer Linda Simmons et al for (1) Selective Disclosure of Material Non-Public Information in Violation of Regulation FD, (2) Distributing on Behalf of Bancorp Rhode Island Proxy Materials Containing Material Omissions and Misrepresentations in Violation of Rule 14a-9 and (3) Violations of Bancorp Rhode Island's Code of Ethics and Code of Ethical Conduct For Executive Officers and Senior Financial Officers

Dear Board Members:

I am the record holder of 500 shares of common stock of Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc. (as evidenced by certificate BRI0389 dated May 30, 2006). I am also the beneficial holder of over 8% of the total shares outstanding, as reflected in Amendment No. 8 to Schedule 13D filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on March 13, 2008. Pursuant to Sections 7-1.2-711(c) and 7-1.2-805(d) of the Rhode Island Business Corporation Act, I hereby make a derivative demand upon Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc. (Bancorp Rhode Island, the Company or BARI) to:

- (1) impanel a special committee of the Board of Directors of Bancorp Rhode Island comprised solely of independent directors (the Independent Committee) to investigate thoroughly, on behalf of the Company, whether President & CEO Merrill Sherman, Chief Financial Officer & Treasurer Linda Simmons or any other employee, officer or director of Bancorp Rhode Island made, or caused to be made, among other things, any material omissions or misstatements or selective non-public disclosures to RiskMetrics Group, Inc. (formerly Institutional Shareholder Services) (ISS) or anyone else concerning Bancorp Rhode Island's projected financial results (and in particular its efficiency ratio), the scope of the assignment of the investment bank retained by the Company and any other actions taken in order to improperly influence the outcome of the election of directors at the Company's 2008 Annual Meeting; and whether by doing so:

- (a) President & CEO Merrill Sherman placed her personal interests ahead of the Company's interests in order to entrench herself as a Director, particularly given that she faced the potential loss of her Board seat at the Annual Meeting;

Board of Directors of Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc.

- (b) President & CEO Merrill Sherman and CFO & Treasurer Linda Simmons or other members of management made selective disclosure of material non-public information to ISS or others in violation of SEC Regulation FD; and
 - (c) President & CEO Merrill Sherman and CFO & Treasurer Linda Simmons or other members of management caused to be distributed on behalf of the Company a definitive proxy statement and other proxy materials that contained material omissions and misrepresentations in violation of Rule 14a-9 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.
- (2) Given that such conduct, if proven, is a serious violation of generally accepted standards of corporate governance, the specific requirements of Bancorp Rhode Island's Code of Ethics and Code of Ethical Conduct for Executive Officers and Senior Financial Officers (collectively, the Codes of Ethics), and a potential violation of SEC rules and regulations, I demand that the Board remove immediately any employee, officer or director of Bancorp Rhode Island that is found to have made, or caused to be made, any of these material omissions or misstatements or selective non-public disclosures, or was aware that these actions occurred without reporting them promptly to the Audit Committee of Bancorp Rhode Island (as required by the Company's governance documents).

Damage to Bancorp Rhode Island

Unfortunately, these events have seriously damaged Bancorp Rhode Island's reputation, goodwill and credibility in the marketplace. If Ms. Sherman and her management team did indeed make or cause someone else to have made any misstatements to ISS or anyone else concerning Bancorp Rhode Island's projected financial performance (particularly its efficiency ratio) or willingness to pursue all strategic alternatives, they certainly lack the integrity and commitment to ethical behavior that Bancorp Rhode Island demands of its employees, officers and directors. If such a determination is made, I demand that the Board remove immediately, on behalf of the Company, those individuals as employees, officers and/or directors of Rhode Island Bancorp, as the case may be.

Further, these events have cost the Company valuable time and money. If Ms. Sherman and her management team had been able to (1) publicly commit to obtaining an efficiency ratio of at least 65% in the short term, (2) publicly demonstrate that the investment bank engaged by the Company was honestly tasked with, and was indeed seeking, all strategic alternatives for the Company, and (3) conduct themselves with highest levels of integrity and commitment to ethical behavior in their interactions with the PL Capital Group, then it is entirely possible that the Company could have avoided a very costly proxy contest (the Company estimated its costs at $195,000 in its definitive proxy statement). The Company could also have avoided this complaint and the time and money that it will take to address the issues identified in this letter.

Summary of Violations of Regulation FD and Rule 14a-9

Board of Directors of Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc.

By making selective disclosure of the ability to achieve a lower efficiency ratio to ISS behind closed doors (and perhaps to other shareholders, if the conduct of Ms. Sherman and her management team with ISS is any indication), Ms. Sherman, Ms. Simmons and the management of the Company painted a picture of Bancorp Rhode Island's projected financial performance that is far rosier than the projections Ms. Sherman and her management team are willing to publicly commit to achieving. I can understand Ms. Sherman's unwillingness to be held to the rosier projected financial performance as it can only be obtained by achieving the lower efficiency ratio that the PL Capital Group has argued must be achieved, while she has argued such a lower efficiency ratio is impossible. In Bancorp Rhode Island's own words: "BancorpRI has consistently communicated its position on its efficiency ratio to its shareholders. As a young and growing company, BancorpRI has made investments that have contributed to a higher efficiency ratio, but these investments have also produced superior shareholder value. And yet when convenient for their purposes, Ms. Sherman and her management team apparently claimed to ISS that they could achieve a much lower efficiency ratio in the short term, in clear contradiction to Bancorp Rhode Island's proxy disclosures.

The issue of a lower efficiency ratio is material because it was one of the primary issues in the 2007 and 2008 proxy contests and is one of the primary issues in the ongoing dialogue between PL Capital Group and Bancorp Rhode Island. So, the omission of Bancorp Rhode Island's ability to achieve a significantly lower efficiency ratio in the short term in the definitive proxy statement and other proxy materials was a material omission that violated Rule 14a-9.

The April 3, 2008 disclosure related to the investment bank is material because this was also a key issue in the proxy contest. As you may be aware, the Company announced in its proxy materials that an investment bank was evaluating (BancorpRI's) current operations and providing the Company with strategic insight on the banking industry marketplace and all potential value-creating opportunities. The PL Capital Group noted at the time that it had significant doubts about the actual nature and scope of the investment bank's involvement, and it unsuccessfully called on the Company to publicly clarify the nature and scope of the investment bank's assignment. It appears that this material statement in the proxy materials may have been a manipulative attempt by the Company to deflect PL Capital Group's proxy contest. The Independent Committee should investigate whether the investment bank's engagement actually included a specific and serious analysis of all potential strategic alternatives and value creating opportunities, including a sale or merger of the Company.

Summary of Violations of the Codes of Ethics

The Company's Codes of Ethics require the Company's officers and directors to adhere to practices that are in accordance with the letter and spirit of applicable federal and state laws, and to conduct themselves on the basis of moral and ethical principles reflecting the highest standards of business and individual behavior. It is vitally important that they follow the highest standards of professional and ethical conduct in performing their duties if the Company is to be successful in its endeavors. Indeed, the Code of Ethics rightly states that the success and reputation of the Company will be determined, in no small part, on the standard of personal and professional integrity with which its employees, officers, and directors conduct themselves.

Maintaining the highest standards of professional and ethical conduct is even more important for the Company's executive officers and senior financial officers. As the Code of Ethical Conduct for Executive Officers and Senior Financial Officers stresses, these individuals are in a unique position to ensure that the interests of Bancorp Rhode Island's shareholders, employees and customers are protected. So, they must set an exemplary standard of professional and ethical behavior.

Board of Directors of Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc.

The violations of Regulation FD and Rule 14a-9 discussed in this letter, if proven, are a serious violation of the Codes of Ethics. Any employee, officer (particularly executive officers such as Ms. Sherman and Ms. Simmons) or director that is found to have made, or caused to be made, any material omissions or misstatements or selective non-public disclosures, or was aware that these actions occurred without reporting them promptly to the Audit Committee of Bancorp Rhode Island (as required by the Company's governance documents), should be removed immediately.

Background Information on ISS Statement

To assist you in your investigation, I provide you with the following background information on the statement made to ISS.

As you know, Bancorp Rhode Island's director nominees were elected at the Company's annual shareholder meeting on May 21, 2008. I believe that this result was achieved with proxy disclosure by Bancorp Rhode Island that contained material omissions and misrepresentations (as discussed above). Further it appears that Ms. Sherman, Ms. Simmons and the management of the Company made selective disclosure to ISS (and perhaps to other shareholders, if their conduct with ISS is any indication) to sway ISS to recommend a vote in its favor, even though the selective disclosure contradicted its proxy disclosures.

ISS report recommending that shareholders vote in favor of Bancorp Rhode Island's director nominees instead of PL Capital Group's director nominees cited as one of ISS reasons for making its recommendation that Management informed ISS that it expects BARI's efficiency ratio to decline to 65 percent in the short-term, closer to its peer group average of 61 percent. This material non-public information, selectively disclosed to ISS by Ms. Sherman, Ms. Simmons and the management of the Company to help secure ISS recommendation, runs contrary to Bancorp Rhode Island's publicly disclosed earnings guidance of earnings per share of $1.94 to $1.99 for fiscal 2008; contradicts proxy disclosures made by Bancorp Rhode Island; runs contrary to Wall Street analysts earnings estimates for 2008 and 2009; and was omitted from Bancorp Rhode Island's definitive proxy statement and additional proxy materials.

Edgar Filing: BANCORP RHODE ISLAND INC - Form SC 13D/A

Bancorp Rhode Island's management initially claimed that it does not believe that it made such a statement to ISS. In a subsequent letter to PL Capital Group, Bancorp Rhode Island's outside legal counsel stated among other things that Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc. is not the guarantor of assessments made by third parties with respect to its financial performance, and referred to the matter as the misstatement contained in the recent report of ISS Governance Services. These conflicting statements make it unclear whether Bancorp Rhode Island was claiming that management might have said it, or said it inadvertently with no basis to support it, or as its legal counsel claimed, management did not say it at all and the ISS report was simply wrong.

Following Bancorp Rhode Island's contradictory claims, ISS weighed in to make it very clear that ISS believed Bancorp Rhode Island made the disclosure to ISS. While ISS contended that the statement had no material impact on its overall recommendation, the statements themselves were very material to the proxy contest, are material to investors' ongoing evaluation of Bancorp Rhode Island and goes to the heart of the ongoing dialogue between Bancorp Rhode Island and the PL Capital Group. The issue of a lower efficiency ratio is material because it was the one of the primary issues in the 2007 and 2008 proxy contests between PL Capital Group and Bancorp Rhode Island and is one of the primary issues in the ongoing dialogue between the PL Capital Group and Bancorp Rhode Island. For over two years, the PL Capital Group has called on the management of Bancorp Rhode Island to lower its efficiency ratio to 55-60%, in line with industry and peer averages. For reference, Bancorp Rhode Island's actual efficiency ratio was 75.6% in 2006, 73.0% in 2007 and 71.6% in Q1 2008. Every Wall Street research analyst who covers Bancorp Rhode Island has earnings estimates for 2008 and 2009 which result in a 70%+ efficiency ratio, in sharp contrast to Bancorp Rhode Island's selective disclosure to ISS that it would achieve a much lower efficiency ratio (65%) closer to that of its peers (61%) in the short term.

Board of Directors of Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc.

The materiality of the statement is clear because the achievement of a 65% efficiency ratio in the short term would result in earnings per share guidance that is significantly higher than the 2008 annual earnings per share guidance that Bancorp Rhode Island publicly disclosed in its January 2008 conference call. The PL Capital Group calculates that a 65% efficiency ratio achieved through a reduction in expenses would equate to earnings per share of $2.51 for fiscal 2008. To arrive at a 65% efficiency ratio through an increase in revenues would equate to earnings per share of $2.78 for fiscal 2008. This range is materially above Bancorp Rhode Island's publicly disclosed earnings guidance of earnings per share of $1.94 to $1.99 for fiscal 2008.

By making selective disclosure of the ability to achieve a lower efficiency ratio to ISS behind closed doors (and perhaps to other shareholders, if the conduct of Ms. Sherman and her management team with ISS is any indication), Ms. Sherman, Ms. Simmons and the management of the Company painted a picture of Bancorp Rhode Island's projected financial performance that is far rosier than the projections Ms. Sherman and her management team are willing to publicly commit to achieving. I can understand Ms. Sherman's unwillingness to be held to the rosier projected financial performance as it can only be obtained by achieving the lower efficiency ratio that the PL Capital Group has argued must be achieved, while she has argued such a lower efficiency ratio is impossible. And yet when convenient for their purposes Ms. Sherman and her management team apparently claimed to ISS that they could achieve a much lower efficiency ratio in the short term, in clear contradiction to Bancorp Rhode Island's proxy disclosures.

In short, there is nothing in Bancorp Rhode Island's proxy materials, public filings, 2008 public earnings guidance or published Wall Street research analyst reports that suggest that Bancorp Rhode Island is going to achieve a 65% efficiency ratio in the short term or intermediate term (namely, 2008 and 2009). It appears that Bancorp Rhode Island's senior management, fearing defeat in the proxy contest (including the loss of a Board seat by CEO Merrill Sherman, who was up for election) took advantage of a private meeting with ISS (the most influential proxy advisor in the country as well as in this contest) to selectively disclose material non-public information that Bancorp Rhode Island had no reason to believe it could achieve, in order to sway the recommendation of ISS.

Board of Directors of Bancorp Rhode Island, Inc.

When the ISS report came out, including the disputed comment attributed directly to Bancorp Rhode Island's management, Bancorp Rhode Island initially did not dispute it publicly or privately with ISS. Instead, Bancorp Rhode Island proudly issued a press release touting ISS recommendation for Bancorp Rhode Island's nominees. It was only after the PL Capital Group challenged Bancorp Rhode Island on the 65% or lower efficiency ratio disclosure that Bancorp Rhode Island began to try to address the issue. Even then Bancorp Rhode Island refused to address the issue forthrightly, and backtracked from (we do not believe we said that) to then refuting the statement (it was a misstatement in the report of ISS Corporate Governance Services).

Interestingly, ISS' final published proxy alert respecting the proxy contest categorically disputes Bancorp Rhode Island's denials, and makes it clear that the ISS analysts stand behind their original report and the disclosure made by Bancorp Rhode Island regarding the efficiency ratio. I suspect that Bancorp Rhode Island's management made the disclosure, without basis, to influence ISS and win the proxy contest, and was tripped up by the public disclosure of their comment in the ISS report. ISS analysts take detailed notes in their meetings and I find it highly unlikely that they misheard such a specific and important disclosure.

Edgar Filing: BANCORP RHODE ISLAND INC - Form SC 13D/A

In closing, I reiterate my demand that Bancorp Rhode Island impanel the Independent Committee to investigate thoroughly, on behalf of the Company, whether President & CEO Merrill Sherman, Chief Financial Officer & Treasurer Linda Simmons or any other employee, officer or director of Bancorp Rhode Island made, or caused to be made, the material omissions and misstatements and selective non-public disclosures discussed above. If any of them are found to have been involved in these violations, or aware of these violations without reporting them to the Audit Committee, then prompt action should be taken to remove them. If you have any questions with respect to any of the foregoing, please contact the undersigned at (973) 360-1666. Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Very truly yours,

By making selective disclosure of the ability to achieve a lower efficiency ratio to ISS behind closed doors (and perhaps to other shareholders, if the conduct of Ms. Sherman and her management team with ISS is any indication), Ms. Sherman, Ms. Simmons and the management of the Company painted a picture of Bancorp Rhode Island's projected financial performance that is far rosier than the projections Ms. Sherman and her management team are willing to publicly commit to achieving. By making selective disclosure of the ability to achieve a lower efficiency ratio to ISS behind closed doors (and perhaps to other shareholders, if the conduct of Ms. Sherman and her management team with ISS is any indication), Ms. Sherman, Ms. Simmons and the management of the Company painted a picture of Bancorp Rhode Island's projected financial performance that is far rosier than the projections Ms. Sherman and her management team are willing to publicly commit to achieving. I can understand Ms. Sherman's unwillingness to be held to the rosier projected financial performance as it can only be obtained by achieving the lower efficiency ratio that the PL Capital Group has argued must be achieved, while she has argued such a lower efficiency ratio is impossible. And yet when convenient for their purposes Ms. Sherman and her management team apparently claimed to ISS that they could achieve a much lower efficiency ratio in the short term, in clear contradiction to Bancorp Rhode Island's proxy disclosures.

In short, there is nothing in Bancorp Rhode Island's proxy materials, public filings, 2008 public earnings guidance or published Wall Street research analyst reports that suggest that Bancorp Rhode Island is going to achieve a 65% efficiency ratio in the short term or intermediate term (namely, 2008 and 2009). It appears that Bancorp Rhode Island's senior management, fearing defeat in the proxy contest (including the loss of a Board seat by CEO Merrill Sherman, who was up for election) took advantage of a private meeting with ISS (the most influential proxy advisor in the country as well as in this contest) to selectively disclose material non-public information that Bancorp Rhode Island had no reason to believe it could achieve, in order to sway the recommendation of ISS.

When the ISS report came out, including the disputed comment attributed directly to Bancorp Rhode Island's management, Bancorp Rhode Island initially did not dispute it publicly or privately with ISS. Instead, Bancorp Rhode Island proudly issued a press release touting ISS recommendation for Bancorp Rhode Island's nominees. It was only after the PL Capital Group challenged Bancorp Rhode Island on the 65% or lower efficiency ratio disclosure that Bancorp Rhode Island began to try to address the issue. Even then Bancorp Rhode Island refused to address the issue forthrightly, and backtracked from (we do not believe we said that) to then refuting the statement (it was a misstatement in the report of ISS Corporate Governance Services).

Interestingly, ISS' final published proxy alert respecting the proxy contest categorically disputes Bancorp Rhode Island's denials, and makes it clear that the ISS analysts stand behind their original report and the disclosure made by Bancorp Rhode Island regarding the efficiency ratio. I suspect that Bancorp Rhode Island's management made the disclosure, without basis, to influence ISS and win the proxy contest, and was tripped up by the public disclosure of their comment in the ISS report. ISS analysts take detailed notes in their meetings and I find it highly unlikely that they misheard such a specific and important disclosure.

In closing, I reiterate my demand that the Audit Committee take immediate action to investigate thoroughly whether President & CEO Merrill Sherman, Chief Financial Officer & Treasurer Linda Simmons or any other employee, officer or director of Bancorp Rhode Island made, or caused to be made, the material omissions and misstatements and selective non-public disclosures discussed above. If any of them are found to have been involved in these violations, or aware of these violations without reporting them to the Audit Committee, then prompt action should be taken to remove them. If you have any questions with respect to any of the foregoing, please contact the undersigned at (973) 360-1666. Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Very truly yours,
