the Company's common stock under its Amended and Restated 2000 Stock Incentive Plan. The Company also reported that the options granted to Dennis L. Pelino were to contain an anti-dilution feature pursuant to which the Company had agreed to grant to Mr. Pelino such number of options in the future as would be necessary for him to retain a 10% interest in the fully diluted capitalization of the Company. During the course of finalizing the agreements relating to Mr. Pelino's options, the Company and Mr. Pelino elected to delete the anti-dilution feature of the options due to adverse market conditions.
