Item 2.06 Material Impairments

On October 7, 2011, the Board of Directors of Commercial Metals Company (the Company) announced its approval of the decision to exit the CMC Sisak mill (CMCS) in Croatia, a steel pipe manufacturing operation, by way of a sale and/or closure. The decision to exit CMCS was made after careful consideration, and despite focused efforts and substantial progress over the past several quarters to stabilize and improve the operating efficiency of CMCS, the Company determined that achieving sustained profitability would take considerable additional time and investment in a product line which is not considered a core business of the Company. The Company also announced that five rebar fabricating locations will be closed, four domestic locations and one international location. In addition, eight construction services locations will be closed.

In connection with the actions mentioned above, the Company estimates the pre-tax charges to be recorded in fiscal year 2011 may range from $135 million to $165 million, which include non-cash impairment charges that may range from $110 million to $130 million.
