Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement.

On May 17, 2007, Inverness Medical Innovations, Inc. ( Inverness ) and affiliates of The Procter & Gamble Company ( P&G ) closed their previously announced transaction to form a 50/50 joint venture for the development, manufacturing, marketing and sale of existing and to-be-developed consumer diagnostic products, outside the cardiology, diabetes and oral care fields. At the closing, Inverness, P&G and certain of their respective subsidiaries entered into material definitive agreements, described in greater detail below, pursuant to which Inverness transferred its related consumer diagnostic assets, other than its manufacturing and core intellectual property assets, to the joint venture, and P&G acquired its interest in the joint venture for a cash payment of approximately US$325.0 million. As part of the consummation of the joint venture, Inverness, certain subsidiaries of Inverness and certain subsidiaries of P&G entered into a shareholder agreement and an amended and restated limited liability company agreement setting forth each party's rights and obligations with respect to the joint venture. Inverness and certain subsidiaries of P&G also entered into an option agreement pursuant to which certain subsidiaries of P&G have the right, after four years, to require Inverness to acquire all of P&G's interest in the joint venture at the purchase price determined in the option agreement, and certain subsidiaries of P&G have the right, at any time upon certain material breaches by Inverness or its subsidiaries of their obligations under the shareholder agreement or the amended and restated limited liability company agreement, to acquire all of Inverness's interest in the joint venture at the purchase price determined in the option agreement.

Item 2.01 Completion of Acquisition or Disposition of Assets.

At the closing on May 17, 2007, substantially all the assets and liabilities of Inverness's world-wide consumer diagnostic business outside of cardiology and diabetes, other than its manufacturing and core intellectual property assets, were contributed or sold to three joint venture entities: SPD Swiss Precision Diagnostics GmbH, a Swiss company ( Swiss JV ); SPD Development Company Limited, a company organized under the laws of England and Wales ( UK JV ); and US CD LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ( US JV ).

At the closing, a subsidiary of Inverness, a subsidiary of P&G and Swiss JV amended and restated the asset contribution and purchase agreements entered into in December 2006, and pursuant to these amended and restated agreements Inverness and certain of its subsidiaries (i) contributed certain assets of Inverness's consumer diagnostic business to Swiss JV and (ii) sold other assets of Inverness's consumer diagnostic business to an affiliate of P&G for a cash payment of approximately US$282.8 million, which assets the P&G affiliate immediately contributed to Swiss JV. Following these transactions, Inverness and P&G each owned, directly or indirectly through wholly-owned subsidiaries, a 50% ownership interest in Swiss JV.

Also at the closing, subsidiaries of Inverness and a subsidiary of P&G entered into an asset purchase agreement with UK JV, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Swiss JV, pursuant to which a subsidiary of Inverness sold assets of Inverness's research and development and call center operations in the United Kingdom to UK JV for a cash payment of approximately US$22.5 million, resulting in net proceeds to Inverness of approximately US$11.3 million in cash.

Also at the closing, Inverness, a subsidiary of P&G and US JV entered into (i) an asset contribution agreement pursuant to which Inverness and certain affiliates of Inverness contributed certain assets of Inverness's consumer diagnostic business in the United States to US JV in exchange for an ownership interest in US JV and (ii) a purchase agreement pursuant to which the P&G subsidiary purchased an interest in US JV from Inverness for approximately US$30.9 million, and following which Inverness and P&G each owned, directly or indirectly through wholly-owned subsidiaries, a 50% ownership interest in US JV.

Item 8.01 Other Events.

Also at the closing, Inverness and P&G and certain of their respective subsidiaries, entered into agreements with the joint venture entities to license certain technology to, and provide certain services to, the joint venture.

Pursuant to certain license agreements, Inverness licensed to the joint venture certain intellectual property for use in the consumer diagnostic business, outside the cardiology, diabetes and oral care fields. Inverness and certain of its subsidiaries also entered into a finished product purchase agreement with Swiss JV, pursuant to which the subsidiaries will manufacture consumer diagnostic products and sell these products to the Swiss joint venture entity.

Inverness also entered into a distribution arrangement with Swiss JV and an affiliate of P&G which provides for the distribution of branded products in the United States. Inverness and Swiss JV entered into distribution arrangements under which, among other things, Inverness will distribute to resellers certain consumer diagnostic products in the United States and certain territories outside the United States for resale as private label products, under brand names other than those owned or licensed by Swiss JV.

Inverness also entered into certain transition and long-term services agreements with Swiss JV, pursuant to which Inverness will provide certain operational support services to the joint venture.
