VULCAN POSTS SHAREHOLDER PRESENTATION DETAILING REASONS SHAREHOLDERS SHOULD REJECT MARTIN MARIETTA S OFFER

Birmingham, Alabama, January 5, 2012 Vulcan Materials Company (NYSE:VMC) has released an investor presentation outlining the reasons that Vulcan has recommended rejecting the Martin Marietta Materials, Inc. (NYSE: MLM) exchange offer. As previously announced, the Vulcan Board of Directors unanimously determined that the Martin Marietta exchange offer is inadequate and not in the best interests of Vulcan and its shareholders.

The investor presentation is available at www.realaggregatesleader.com, a website established to provide information about the Company s response to Martin Marietta s opportunistic and inadequate offer. In addition, the presentation may be found on Vulcan s corporate website at www.vulcanmaterials.com. It is also being filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ( SEC ) and will be accessible on the SEC s website at www.sec.gov.

The reasons outlined in the presentation for shareholders to reject the offer include the following:

Martin Marietta s opportunistic offer substantially undervalues Vulcan.

- The offer seeks to exploit a severe cyclical industry downturn and 10-year low in Vulcan s share price.
- The historical exchange ratio between Vulcan and Martin Marietta has exceeded the proposed ratio of 0.5x for 89% of the trading days of the 10 years preceding the announcement of the offer.<sup>1</sup>
- Vulcan s peak EBITDA of $1.3 billion is more than double Martin Marietta s historical high.
- Wall Street equity research analysts have predicted Vulcan s 2011-2013 EBITDA growth rate will be more than double Martin Marietta s (68% vs. 26%).<sup>2</sup>
- The premium implied by the offer (9.3%) is lower than all precedent U.S. and European transactions in the heavy building materials industry valued over $1.0 billion since 2002.<sup>3</sup>

Martin Marietta's offer fails to compensate Vulcan shareholders for Vulcan's stronger operating leverage and asset portfolio.

- Vulcan's cash gross profit per ton for aggregates is 28% higher than Martin Marietta's.
- Vulcan's reserves are more concentrated in higher growth markets than Martin Marietta's. Vulcan serves 18 of the top 25 U.S. metropolitan areas ranked by projected population growth; Martin Marietta serves only nine.<sup>4</sup>

Martin Marietta's offer would not enhance shareholder value.

Edgar Filing: Vulcan Materials CO - Form 425

- Overall synergies asserted by Martin Marietta ($200-250 million) are high compared to precedent building materials transactions.
- As detailed in Vulcan's 14D-9 filing, in prior discussions the companies' CFOs jointly identified $125-150 million in savings.
- A significant part of the synergies are being captured by Vulcan on a stand-alone basis. Since early 2011, Vulcan has initiated actions to lower its overhead expenses by more than $50 million.
- Martin Marietta underestimates the costs and risks of a combination. Potential required divestitures would destroy value.

Vulcan believes Martin Marietta's offer breached two binding contracts by misusing highly sensitive, non-public information provided to Martin Marietta.

intend, plan, will, can, may, or similar expressions elsewhere in this document. These statements are subject to numerous risks, uncertainties and assumptions, including but not limited to general business conditions, competitive factors, pricing, energy costs, and other risks and uncertainties discussed in the reports Vulcan periodically files with the SEC. Vulcan cautions prospective investors that forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and that actual results, developments, and business decisions may vary significantly from those expressed in or implied by the forward-looking statements. The following risks related to Vulcan's business, among others, could cause actual results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements: the risk that the results of the streamlining actions adopted by Vulcan will differ from those anticipated; future events relating to Martin Marietta's unsolicited offer to acquire Vulcan; those associated with general economic and business conditions; the timing and amount of federal, state and local funding for infrastructure; the lack of a multi-year federal highway funding bill with an automatic funding mechanism; the reluctance of state departments of transportation to undertake federal highway projects without a reliable method of federal funding; the impact of a prolonged economic recession on Vulcan's industry, business and financial condition and access to capital markets; changes in the level of spending for private residential and nonresidential construction; the highly competitive nature of the construction materials industry; the impact of future regulatory or legislative actions; the outcome of pending legal proceedings; pricing of Vulcan's products; weather and other natural phenomena; energy costs; costs of hydrocarbon-based raw materials; healthcare costs; the amount of long-term debt and interest expense incurred by Vulcan; changes in interest rates; the impact of Vulcan's below investment grade debt rating on Vulcan's cost of capital; volatility in pension plan asset values which may require cash contributions to the pension plans; the impact of environmental clean-up costs and other liabilities relating to previously divested businesses; Vulcan's ability to secure and permit aggregates reserves in strategically located areas; Vulcan's ability to manage and successfully integrate acquisitions; the potential of goodwill impairment; the potential impact of future legislation or regulations relating to climate change or greenhouse gas emissions or the definition of minerals; and other assumptions, risks and uncertainties detailed from time to time in the reports filed by Vulcan with the SEC. All forward-looking statements in this communication are qualified in their entirety by this cautionary statement. Vulcan disclaims and does not undertake any obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statement in this document except as required by law. Vulcan notes that forward-looking statements made in connection with a tender offer are not subject to the safe harbors created by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Vulcan is not waiving any other defenses that may be available under applicable law.
